

Special Issue on Men's Health

Call for Papers

Men's health refers to health issues specific to human male anatomy. Most of the researches focus on the diseases related to structures such as male genitalia or physical and mental conditions caused by hormones specific to males. Specifically, the issues include prostate health, erectile dysfunction, and male infertility and so on.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring men's health. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Urology and andrology
- Reproductive health
- Sexual medicine
- Cardiology & Oncology
- Mental health
- Adolescent health
- Aging and geriatric medicine
- Preventive medicine and health promotion

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Men's Health” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:
