

Special Issue on Finance & Accounting

Call for Papers

As financial markets integrate and business operations diversify, the need for adoption of common global accounting practices intensifies. Heightening this need further are inadequacies in reporting systems that sometimes undermine the credibility of published financial data. Incidences of inadequate reporting in turn have brought a call for research on how to align the content and presentation of corporate financial statements better with the interests of those statements' users.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring finance & accounting. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Auditing, taxation and corporate governance
- Human resource
- Management education & development
- International management
- Operations research
- Leadership and entrepreneurship
- Investment, investment banking
- International finance and financial markets

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Finance & Accounting” should be selected during your submission.
