

Special Issue on Operations Management

Call for Papers

Operations management mainly focuses on planning, organizing and supervising in the contexts of production, manufacturing or the provision of services. It is concerned with converting materials and labor into goods and services as efficiently as possible to maximize the profit of an organization.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Operations Management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Configuration management
- Distribution channels
- Enterprise resource planning
- Facilities management
- Inventory control
- Logistics and transportation management
- Product and service management
- Production planning
- Quality control
- Supply chain management
- Technology management

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Operations Management” should be selected during your submission.
