

Special Issue on International Economics and Trade

Call for Papers

International Economics is a large branch of economics which focuses on studying the patterns and consequences of transactions and interactions between the inhabitants of different countries, including international trade, international finance, international monetary economics, international political economy.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring International Economics and Trade. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Financial globalization
- Free-trade theories
- Monopolistic competition in international trade
- Bilateral trade
- Multinational corporations
- International capital flows
- Export-oriented industrialization
- International trade
- International monetary economics
- International political economy
- International financial markets

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - International Economics and Trade” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

| | |
|---------------------|----------------|
| Submission Deadline | May 12th, 2017 |
| Publication Date | July 2017 |

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at me@scirp.org.