

Special Issue on Developmental Pediatrics

Call for Papers

Developmental Pediatrics is a specialized branch of pediatrics focused on the assessment, diagnosis, and management of developmental disorders and behavioral issues in children. This field combines elements from pediatrics, psychology, and neurology to support the growth and developmental needs of children. Developmental pediatricians work to identify early signs of developmental delays and disabilities, including autism, ADHD, learning disorders, and language impairments, providing individualized care plans that promote optimal development and well-being for children with these challenges.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Developmental Pediatrics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Infant and newborn development
- Neonatology and developmental biology
- Prematurity and developmental outcome
- Early intervention
- Newborn defects
- Developmental delay
- Mental development
- Autism spectrum disorder
- Intellectual disabilities
- Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD)
- Language and speech disorders
- Learning disabilities
- Genetic and neurodevelopmental disorders
- Cerebral palsy and motor disorders
- Sensory integration disorders
- Behavioral disorders in children
- Family-centered care
- Health promotion and prevention

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *Developmental Pediatrics” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	October 24th, 2024
Publication Date	December 2024
